

What's New

WHAT'S NEW?

ECOHEALTH CONFERENCE 2014

Registration for the 2014 EcoHealth Conference is now open. The 5th biennial conference of the International Association for Ecology & Health will be co-hosted by the Interdisciplinary Research Center on Biology, Health, Society and Environment and the Canadian Community of Practice in Ecosystem Approaches to Health. Under the theme Connections for health, ecosystems and society, EcoHealth 2014 will be held in Montréal (Québec, Canada), at the Université du Québec à Montréal, from August 11th to 15th, 2014. To register, visit <http://ecohealth2014.uqam.ca/>.

WORLD WATER WEEK 2014

World Water Week (WWW) will take place from August 31 to September 5, 2014 in Stockholm, Sweden. WWW is hosted and organized by the Stockholm International Water Institute (SIWI) and has been the annual focal point for the globe's water issues since 1991. Each year the WWW addresses a particular theme to enable a deeper examination of a specific water-related topic. This year's theme is "Energy and Water." For more information, please visit <http://www.worldwaterweek.org/>.

142ND APHA ANNUAL MEETING & EXPOSITION

The American Public Health Association will hold its 142nd annual meeting this year in New Orleans, Louisiana from November 15 to 19, 2014. The APHA Annual Meeting & Exposition attracts more than 13,000 national and international physicians, administrators, nurses, educators, researchers, epidemiologists, and related health specialists.

APHA's meeting program addresses current and emerging health science, policy, and practice issues in an effort to prevent disease and promote health. This year's theme is Healthography: How where you live affects your health and well being. For more details, please visit: <http://www.apha.org/meetings/>.

63RD ANNUAL WDA INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

The 2014 International Conference of the Wildlife Disease Association will be held at the Tamaya Resort at Santa Ana Pueblo, near Bernalillo, New Mexico, USA from July 27 to Aug 1, 2014. The conference theme is One Health: Transitioning from Theory to Practice. This meeting will provide a number of learning opportunities including, but not limited to, workshops, an invited interdisciplinary plenary session on One Health, and anticipated focus sessions such as One Health in practice, zoonotic diseases of the American Southwest, impact of human development on wildlife health, bighorn sheep disease, prion diseases and more. To register for this conference, please go to the webpage <http://www.wildlifedisease.org/>.

57TH ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM OF THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR VEGETATION SCIENCE

The University Club of The University of Western Australia will host the 57th Annual Symposium of the International Association for Vegetation Science (IAVS). The IAVS is a worldwide union of scientists and others interested in theoretical and practical studies of vegetation: its composition and structure, history, classification, distribution, ecology, dynamics, management, and uses in the landscape. To join the IAVS and register for the conference, please visit: <http://www.iavs2014.com/>.

99TH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ECOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA

The Ecological Society of America's 99th annual meeting will be held during August 10–15, 2014, in Sacramento, CA. The theme for the meeting is “From Oceans to Mountains: It's All Ecology.” The Ecological Society of America (ESA) is a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization of scientists founded in 1915 to promote ecological science by improving communication among ecologists; raise the public's level of awareness of the importance of ecological science; increase the resources available for the conduct of ecological science; and ensure the appropriate use of ecological science in environmental decision making by enhancing communication between the ecological community and policy-makers. To register for this meeting, please visit <http://esa.org/am/>.